

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS.

DANIELSON

Benjamin M. Earle Shoots Himself—Three New Pitchers for Waregan—Watchman Fournier Resigns After 34 Years.

Benjamin M. Earle, Jr., 37, unmarried, shot himself in the head with a revolver at Hyde Park, Mass., Wednesday, dying a few hours later, at the home of his parents, No. 31 Oak street. After viewing the body, Medical Examiner Sturtevant said that he could not decide whether it was a case of suicide or accidental shooting.

Mr. Earle was said to have been engaged. He was known to have been dependent. He had returned a few days ago from South Carolina, where his father was staying for his health. Mr. Earle will be remembered in this section as a cottager at Alexander's lake for three seasons past.

Trellis of Nasturtiums Planned.
A shield of climbing nasturtiums will be grown over the crude fence separating the trolley and steam road tracks opposite the Central house this summer. The expense of creating this flowery covering, which is intended to enhance the good impression that people entering Danielson should receive, is to be borne by a local woman.

THREE RARE PITCHERS

Found by Manager of Waregan Team

Manager McBride of the Waregan team of the Eastern Connecticut league is out with an announcement that should tickle the fans in that place. He has discovered three wonder-wings all in one bunch. That is like finding a four-leaved clover. Here are the names of the men, all of whom belong in the Pawtucket Inter-city league: Thomas Drohan, Bob Kennan, C. B. Chappelle, Will Manager McBride sign them? Well, that is a question. He already has seven box artists on his list, but he may desire to add to his collection. Enough may not be plenty.

About the Borough.

Mrs. George F. Bemis and daughter, Dorothy, are guests of Mrs. Bemis' sister, Mrs. A. D. Fairbanks, at Norwich. Adelaide Baribeau, who has been a patient at the Day-Kimball hospital is Putnam for several weeks, with an injured knee, returned to Danielson Thursday.

Mother Superior Theophane and Sister Mary Anne of the Sisters of St. Joseph were in Hartford Thursday to attend the consecration of Bishop Nolan.

Postmaster Charles A. Potter was in Worcester Thursday.

Congressman E. W. Higgins of Norwich was a recent visitor in Danielson.

Called to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Getty were called to St. Hyacinthe, Canada, Thursday, on account of the illness of their daughter, Laura, who is a sister in the Order of the Presentation, at the convent in that place.

William Ingalls of Brooklyn will be the speakers at a meeting to be held in the Advent chapel Sunday afternoon.

To Address Men's Club.

Rev. R. S. Cushman will speak on "The White Slave Traffic" at a meeting of the Men's Bar Association of the Methodist church Friday evening. There is also to be an entertainment, music and refreshments.

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS

John Fournier Has Been Night Watchman.

John Fournier, who has been a night watchman for the Quinebaug company in their mills on the West Side, has resigned. Mr. Fournier has a long record of faithful service with the company, having been with them for the past 34 years.

Strikes Ledge.

The Petrossi company is meeting with some difficulty in running the sewer pipes through Cottage street near where it unites with Water street. A vein of rock has been encountered and blasting is frequently necessary. Deer are returning to their work of depredation on farmers' lands in this vicinity and complaints are beginning to come in of damage that is being done by the pretty creatures. The deer are more numerous and are traveling in larger herds than ever before in this section.

Work on State Highway.

City Engineer F. Walden Wright of Putnam, acting for the state highway commission and under the direction of First Selectman John A. Gilbert, commenced a survey of Main street from the Congregational church northward to Davis' corner Thursday. The stretch of road is the only break in the macadam between the borough and the four corners near Dayville.

CHRISTOPHER M. GALLUP

Made Chairman of Agricultural Committee of Maine Board of Trade.

Christopher M. Gallup, formerly of Brooklyn, now editor of the Maine Farmer, has been named as chairman of the agricultural committee of the state (Maine) board of trade.

To this committee has been assigned the important task of investigating and reporting on the unsatisfactory methods practiced by foreign brokers who solicit consignments of apples for export. It being estimated that Maine orchardists are robbed of a million dollars annually through the machinations of these operators. The report is expected to shed some light on the practices now in vogue and that the practice of soliciting consignments will be largely broken up and the business conducted on a contract basis. Better highways and demonstration farms, in place of the antiquated system of farmers' institutes, are two other movements in which Mr. Gallup is striving to interest the Maine farmer.

General News.

Many people from Danielson and the surrounding villages are planning to attend the May dinner of the Day-Kimball hospital. Mrs. C. W. Flag of Danielson is to be one of the matrons. Davis park is beginning to take on a beautiful appearance. Several beds of flowering plants are now attracting attention and with the advent of warm weather the park will be as popular a resort as ever.

Steam fitters in the employ of the New Haven road are engaged in installing a heating plant at the local railroad station. The station has heretofore been heated with stoves. Last winter this method of heating gave such unsatisfactory results that the change now in progress was decided upon.

PUTNAM

Verison Provided for Hospital Patients

—Albert L. Arnold's Funeral—Ingraham House Ransacked—Mrs. Emma Shaw Colclough Writes of South American Trip.

Charles Belair, Jr., attached to the naval training station at Newport, arrived at his home in Putnam Thursday on a leave of absence.

Isaac Chapman was in Hartford on Thursday to attend the ceremony of the consecration of Bishop J. J. Nolan. Mrs. Mary Gardner will have the members of the W. C. T. U. at her home this (Tuesday) afternoon.

Michael Murphy, who spent a part of the winter at his old home in this city, is now in Ulster, N. Y.

Gone With Southbridge.

Manager Armand Litvitz will give the baseball fans a chance to look his collection of candidates over at League field tomorrow (Saturday), when the Southbridge team comes to South. Paulo of Southbridge and Cabana of Springfield are expected to do the pitching in Putnam. One week from tomorrow Putnam will open its league season here with Jewett City as the visiting team.

DEER PLUNGED TO DEATH.

Providing Venison for Patients at the Hospital.

Patients at the Day-Kimball hospital who are in proper physical condition will get venison today, and those who are not will have it promised to them if they improve.

This added item to the institution's bill of fare is listed because a good sized deer became frightened while making a visit to the city Thursday morning. The deer lost its nerve in a bad place—the center of the highway bridge over the railroad tracks at Providence street—and a second later it was in the water. It was seen in one magnificent bound, and then plunged headlong 20 feet and over to the tracks below. The fall broke the animal's back. The carcass was quickly cared for, was dressed at Moore's market and then donated to the hospital.

FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Albert L. Arnold, who died suddenly Monday afternoon, were held at the home of his mother, Mrs. William F. Arnold, 11 o'clock, Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. F. D. Sargent officiated. A quartette composed of Harold S. Corbin, J. H. Moore, H. J. Thayer, Charles E. Shaw, Isaac Chapman, C. H. Sealey, supply table, Mrs. Lillie Leach, Mrs. H. C. Preston, Mrs. W. H. Mansfield, booth and table, Mrs. J. H. Atwood, Worcester, Mass., J. H. Thayer, Mrs. F. D. Thayer, fowers, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. S. B. Overlock.

Theft at Home of L. W. Ingraham.
The police were interested Thursday in the solution of the identity of the person guilty of entering the home of L. N. Ingraham, on Railroad street, while all members of the family were away, and ransacked the place for money, bureau drawers and closets were left open. The net loss amounts to between $15 and $20.

Clark Horse Restored to Owner.
The taking of a horse hatched in front of Burt's drug store Wednesday afternoon turned out to be a less serious matter than the first part of the episode promised. The horse is again in possession of its owner, John Clark of Woodstock. The man who took the horse drove right up from Putnam to Woodstock, and was going by Mr. Clark's place when the latter recognized his rig and held the driver up. Later there was a conference with the deputy sheriff L. H. Healey and because of mitigating circumstances the conservative joy rider was released.

Rev. Mr. Townsend of Atlantic City, N. J., will conduct the services at St. Philip's mission on Sunday.

The second degree was conferred upon a class of candidates in the Cargill council on Thursday evening.

Fakir Imposes on Elks.
Information has reached this city to the effect that a man representing himself as E. C. Rogers of Putnam has been enjoying the hospitality of the Elks at Alton, Pa. The fellow is a fake. Mr. Rogers knows who the man is; at least he knows that the man who is representing himself as Mr. Rogers was in Putnam a few weeks ago, and at that time he said his name was John Walsh. He has a record as a long distance walker; also as a state talker. The Alton Elks have been made aware of the deception.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRIP.
One of Wonders and Delights—Experiences of Mrs. Emma Shaw Colclough.

Mrs. Emma Shaw Colclough of Providence and Thompson, who has just returned from South America, writes to her brother, George E. Shaw of Putnam, as follows:

During my South American cruise on the Bluecher we touched at a half dozen Brazilian ports, spent twelve days at Buenos Ayres, crossed the Andes to Santiago and Valparaiso, besides spending several days in the Straits of Magellan, making headquarters at Punta Arenas, the most southern city in the world. From this port a number of excursion boats were given opportunity to enjoy the picturesque scenery of the mountain-hemmed fords of Terra del Fuego. I shall never forget the picture at the head of Admiralty Sound, where the snow-capped peaks of the mountains were reflected in the sea amid foothills green with the verdure of unfamiliar trees. The fog phantom, which had been foretold by pessimists, failed to materialize, for during the entire cruise we had only about two hours of fog.

So, in crossing the Andes, going west, we had the wonder picture in the late afternoon, and upon our return we left the little hotel at Los Andes just as the rush of dawn tinted the snow-capped peaks with a pink Alpine glow; and all the climb the glowing light brought out new and varying tints of a glorious color scheme.
